

"Same – Different – Better"

After a major change or transition it is easy to focus only on the negative. This activity helps you acknowledge what is different, recognize what is the same, and appreciate what is better. Try it out with a recent change or transition in your life.

In the appropriate sections, list at least one think that is the same, different, and better after a recent transition.

